THE SENTINEL.

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 16, 1867.

A Strange Fact.

We have been astonished at the views entertained by the Radical people of the North, as to the character and practical bearing of the Howard amendment. Senators and Representatives in Congress, Governors of States, newspaper editors, army officers, (and, more recently, Gen. Grant is said to be included in the number,) declare it to be their opinion that the Howard amendment is the most reasonable, mild and conciliatory proposition which could be made to effect the reconciliation and reconstruction of the Southern people. We do not say the reconstruction of the Southern States, but people; for we hold the position of President Johnson to be impregnable, that the Union has not been dissolved,—that the acts of secession were invalid and always invalid, could only have been made available by actual success, and that by consequence no State was ever out of the Union.

In reaching this conclusion, that the Howard amendment is so excellent a remedy and cure for the conduct of the South, and so potent a security for the solidarity and perpetuity of the Union, it is wonderful that all these parties seem to look solely to those sections which provide for the reduction of Southern representation in Congress, the disfranchisement of the Southern people and the security of the public debt.

If the future maintenance of political power, in the control of the government by the North, be essential to the perpetuity of the Union, that is already secured for thousands of years, if the world should last so long, by its already enormous population, its geographical position, and its certain progress over the growth of the South. Practically, the proposition could not make the North any stronger but the South much weaker. For all necessary purposes, nothing could be gained. If the object of that proposition is not indirectly to force negro suffrage upon the South, it is an amendment not actually necessary to effect its alleged purpose; since it is absolutely impossible for the South ever to gain any real political power, numerically, in the Congress.

If the object of the third section is to punish the leaders of the rebellion, to put a hideous mark upon "traitors" and "treason," and to guard the national councils and officers against the intrusion of those who bore a conspicuous part in the late revolt, could it not be accomplished more directly in a much easier way?—Why put it in the form of an amendment to the Constitution, and thus attempt to force the Southern people, not simply to accomplish their own degradation, by putting the mark upon their own foreheads, but, what we esteem to be far worse, to put the mark on better men and less guilty men than some of the rest? Moreover, why require us to disqualify the Southern States almost utterly for self-government, that Congress, with the greater show of necessity, may take the government of the Southern States entirely in its own hands?

As to the fourth section, securing the national debt beyond the possibility of repudiation, the Southern people regard that point as so thoroughly settled that, while many think it unnecessary, no one objects to it.

But why are Radical or Conservative men at the North so oblivious of, or so reticent in regard to, the certain dangerous results to the whole country and the government from the first and fifth sections? No evils have ever arisen, or are likely to arise, from the exercise of those necessary powers and rights of the States, recognised by the Constitution and the universal consent of all parties from the beginning of the government. Only those claims of State rights and State sovereignty, which have been subjects of controversy from the beginning, and were settled by the late terrible war, have threatened danger or injury. But is there not greater danger to the government itself, to the whole superstructure of our Federative system, in the Howard amendment, than there was in secession itself? Is there not more danger to personal liberty, to the municipal regulations of the States, in this scheme than in any ever proposed? Do not the immense powers, proposed by the amendment to be conferred upon Congress, directly strike at the Republican features of the government, and tend certainly to the destruction of our Federative system? No body on earth, no legislative body, is so completely liable to be swayed by the ebb and flow of popular sentiment, as the Congress. None so liable to be controlled by the fickle impulses of partyism as that body. None so liable to instability, to change, and to sudden, violent change, as the Congress, and none, consequently, so dangerous to liberty, without the most rigid checks. Take away the safe-guards of the Constitution which the Howard amendment proposes, and a child may foresee the results. If the advocates of this amendment have banded together under the name of Republican, in order more easily to destroy the Republic, and to force upon the nation a monarchy, let them say so. What we want is stability, peace and quiet; but if the Republic has outlived its Republicanism, and American liberty is a failure, give us a settled, stable Constitutional monarchy at once, rather than to pass through the throes and ruin and bloodshed, which the policy of Congress seems to shadow forth, before we reach it.

But gloomy as the future seems to be under the present regime, we still have confidence in the inborn love our people bear, both North and South, to the Constitution and the Republic. We believe and hope that they will safely outride the storm, and that our glorious Union will come forth unscathed by the fires through which it is passing, only brighter and purer and stronger for the test.

Both of the Salisbury papers, the Old North State and the Banner, have come out in favor of qualified negro suffrage.

The Supreme Court—Its Decisions.

We may expect a fresh exhibition of Radical rage towards the Supreme Court, in view of its recent pronunciation of the unconstitutionality of the Congressional and Missouri test-oaths, and its just definition of the efficacy of an Executive pardon. No matter by what resistless logic, or by what weight of argument or authority, the opinion of the Court may be sustained, a deaf ear will be turned to all, and the extreme Radical party leaders will only see in this righteous exposition, by the highest judicial authority in the land, an obstacle to their mad lust for political power, which, if possible, must be swept away. We choose to attribute to them no worse motives than those of mere party greed, however much the spirit which they exhibit towards our unfortunate section may savor of vindictiveness and hate. This motive is sufficient to explain their course; for it has been developed as a mournful fact in American politics, in latter days, that the thirst for party ascendancy, and the spoils of office, will stop at nothing that promises its gratification. To desperate men, thus inclined, what are the sacred muniments of Constitutions and laws,—what the solemnity of venerable precedents,—what the sanctity of the bench or the purity of the ermine? It is the most fearful and ominous indication of the times, that the august dicta of such a tribunal as the Supreme Court of the United States, which has been adorned by a Marshall, a Story, and a Taney, and which, under the solemnity of oath, is charged with the dispassionate interpretation of the Constitution and the laws, should be decried, denounced and threatened for decisions that do not meet the expectations or further the schemes of faction,—and that a faction, the tendency, if not the aim, of which is to subvert Republican liberty.

But we are not of the number of those who apprehend that the party in power will actually go so far as to lay sacrilegious or violent hands upon the Supreme Judiciary of the land. It was not done in the midst of the most frightful convulsions of English society. There is something in the prestige and character of such a tribunal that inspires a reverence and awe, of which men cannot entirely disabuse themselves, however much they may affect to the contrary, and however much, for certain purposes, they may clamor and menace. Believing this, we recognize in the late opinions of the Court the sure and safe pathway, that is to lead us out of our present darkness and difficulty. At least this shall be our hope, until hope is idle.—When the great constitutional umpire shall be dethroned, there is an end to the Republic, and anarchy will have begun—to end in the rayless gloom of despotism.

Silver Wedding.

An occasion of unusual interest took place at "Athol," the country seat of Charles J. Baker, Esq., on Friday, the 4th inst., being the twenty-fifth anniversary of his married life. It was a re-union of old and cherished friends, and of unalloyed enjoyment. Such a scene of varied and peculiar interest does not often occur in this changing world. The day was bright and balmy, and the scene within the hospitable mansion was in perfect unison with it. From 2 to 5 P. M., the rooms were thronged with some 400 or 500 guests, who called to pay their respects and renew their congratulations. A happier company we have never seen.

A remarkable feature of the occasion was the presence of the venerable parents of Bro. Baker, who celebrated their golden wedding thirteen years ago! This reverend and pious old couple, now in the sixty-third year of their married life, during all that period have been married to the Church of Christ, and are this day two of the brightest ornaments of American Methodism. Like Zacharias and Elizabeth, "they have walked in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless."

The "Silver Wedding" will not be forgotten by those who were present. For ourselves, we could wish that it might happen every year! May length of days, with peace and prosperity, crown the future!

[We copy the above for the purpose, simply, of re-echoing the concluding aspiration of the "Methodist." The writer of this, while a prisoner in Fort Delaware, though personally unknown to the estimable couple alluded to above, was the recipient of delicate kindnesses at their hands, which can never be forgotten. Nor was his an isolated instance. Many others, similarly circumstanced, can testify to their Christian benevolence and sympathy. They live in many a grateful memory; and if the benisons of thankful hearts can effect it, they will indeed have "length of days, with peace and prosperity."]

It will be seen, by reference to our telegraphic columns, that the territories of Colorado and Nebraska have been admitted as States, upon condition that the respective legislatures thereof shall give the ballot to all males, twenty-one years of age and upwards, without distinction of race or color. Should the President veto these bills, the vote on their passage would seem to indicate that they cannot be passed over the veto. May we not hope that the vote in the case of these measures is an augury that Congress is not prepared to force upon the Southern States the dangerous experiment of universal suffrage, as contemplated by the territorializing process.

Report of the Board of Literature to the General Assembly.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE OF THE LITERARY BOARD,
Raleigh, December 8th, 1866.

Gentlemen:—The President and Directors of the Literary Fund of North Carolina respectfully submit the following report:

All the sources of annual income belonging to this corporation have been permanently or temporarily cut off, as a result of the war. Its income consisted chiefly of dividends on the stocks in the Banks of North Carolina and Cape Fear, and in the Wilmington and Weldon and Wilmington and Manchester Railroads; the Bank Stocks amounting to $1,047,100, which may be considered a total loss; and the Stock in these Railroads, $600,000, has been rendered unproductive by the ravages of war. These Roads have been put in excellent condition, and are doing an active business, but the expenses of repairs have absorbed all their income.—They will probably be unable to declare dividends for some time to come. The Stock held by the Board in the Cape Fear and Roanoke Navigation Companies has never yielded any dividend. The State Bonds held by this Board, issued prior to the war, amount, for principal and accrued interest, to about $300,000—and, for bonds issued during the war, to about $400,000. (For precision, see Treasurer's report.) As no provision has been made for paying any interest accruing on State bonds, no income is derived from this source.

The Board holds a small amount of bonds on corporations and individuals, (for particulars, see Treasurer's report,) on which no interest has been paid since the close of the war.

A small amount, set forth in the Treasurer's report, has been received for licenses to retailers of liquors and auctioneers, and for entries of vacant land. The receipts from these sources constitute a part of the permanent fund of the Board, and cannot be used to keep up schools, or even to defray the indispensable expenses of executing the trust committed to our charge.

It follows that the present Board has had no funds to distribute to support schools, nor to defray any expense, however trivial.

The only matter of importance to which we could direct our attention was the Swamp lands held by the Board.

In order to exercise the power to sell these lands, with any discretion, Board the first directed its attention to ascertaining the boundaries and location of them—and the quantity and quality of each body of them. The State Geologist, under the direction of the Board, after a diligent search, found many of the maps of surveys made years ago, and collected many of the reports of the engineers and previous Boards of Literature touching these lands; but none of them set out the boundaries with sufficient precision, or gave such other description of each body of land, as we needed, and as a person treating for a purchase would require, to act with judgment. We had no funds under our control to defray the expense of obtaining this accurate information.

Another insuperable difficulty in the way of effecting sales, was a cloud resting on our title. About the year 1790, the State made sundry grants to David Allison and other land speculators, each grant covering many thousand acres. After the State had expended large sums of money in draining some of these swamps, claimants appeared setting up title under these grants. Gov. Morehead, in his report of the 4th. of December, 1844, sets out the following expenses then incurred in re-claiming a part of these lands, to wit:

For Alligator Canal,	$63,799 59
For Pungo Canal,	35,316 55
For Tributaries to Pungo Canal,	23,376 06
For Tributaries to Alligator Canal,	24,584 95
For Surveys, &c., &c.,	29,688 75
Total amount,	$176,965 85

Other large expense has been incurred in the drainage of Open Ground Prairie in Carteret County, and examinations and analysis of the soils of many tracts. But as soon as it was hoped that these lands were saleable by these heavy expenses in draining them, this difficulty as to title arose. During the administration of Gov. Graham, a suit was instituted at the instance of the Board, in the County of Washington, intended to settle the validity of the title of one of these large claimants. By consent of parties, it was referred to Judge Ruffin, who, doubtless, for sufficient reasons, has made no award, and the suit is still undecided.

Notwithstanding the surpassing fertility of these lands, as shown by the reports of Professor Emmons, and information derived from adjacent proprietors who have re-claimed, and ascertained their productiveness by actual cultivation, the Board, awaiting the decision of this and other similar litigation as to the title, seems to have almost withdrawn attention from these lands.

The present Board has ascertained that a large part, if not all, of these lands, granted in vast tracts to land speculators, was a few years thereafter sold for the taxes, and bid in and re-conveyed to the State. Many of the deeds, evidencing these sales for taxes, and re-conveying the lands to the State, are on file in the office of the Secretary of State. Some of them are on file in the office of the County Court Clerk of Carteret,—and, probably, others may be found on fuller search. By reason of these re-conveyances to the State, and Sundry Acts of the Assembly touching the subject, it is believed that all cloud on the State's title is removed.

In August last, the Board sold Lake Ellis, in the County of Craven, to W. F. Lewis, for $8,000, payable on the first day of January, 1867, and reserving the title until the purchase money shall be paid. The obligor is understood to be a man of large means, and the drainage of this lake, if successful, it is hoped will enable the Board to sell, at a good price, two neighboring lakes of much larger area.

The Board has had proposals to buy small portions of these lands in Onslow, Carteret, and elsewhere, and has inquiries from individuals and Emigration Societies, as to what sum we would take for the whole of them. We have made no sales except that of lake Ellis, and have fixed no price at which we would sell the whole, because of our want of accurate information as to boundaries, quantity and value, and our inability, under existing laws, to employ and pay suitable agents to procure and furnish to the Board, or a party proposing to purchase, the necessary information.

From the reports of the late State Geologist, the engineers who have, from time to time, made surveys, and all other sources of information, we hope and believe the State has, in these swamp lands, the means of reviving and sustaining her Public Schools. But, for the reasons stated, the Board cannot perceive how they can accomplish much, save by a blind sale of the whole. The quantity is estimated by some of the engineers as exceeding 1,000,000 acres. If this latter course be deemed best, we respectfully ask you to fix the price at which they shall be sold. If you deem it best to leave the management of these lands under this Board, we respectfully suggest that we should be invested with power to draw on the fund, or on the Public Treasurer, for an amount sufficient to enable the Board to employ and pay Surveyors and other agents, to procure and submit to us the information essential to the discreet action of the Board.

Since a few years immediately succeeding the Revolution of 1776, there has been no time when Public Schools were so much needed, as at the present time. The School Districts laid off, with School Houses on them, exist all over the State, but war swept away the means which long years had accumulated for paying the teachers. For the immediate revival of these Schools, this Board can do nothing. By the proper management of these Swamp lands, it is hoped another fund may be created. In the meantime, if the Schools are to be revived, the wisdom of your honorable body must devise the means of sustaining them.

It is believed that the Juniper, Cypress and other timber, of great value for building and other purposes, in many of these Swamps are rapidly disappearing by trespasses. If an active, enterprising man could be employed to direct his whole mind and attention to them, and call public attention to the surpassing fertility of some of them, as demonstrated, not only by scientific analysis, but by the actual cultivation of like Swamps, reclaimed by individual enterprise, it is believed that they might be sold or reclaimed, giving alternate sections for draining. At present, they yield nothing to the State, and it is recommended that the Board be authorized to sell them, with the pledge that they shall not be subject to State or County taxes for ten years, or other long period.

If it shall be your pleasure, to put at the control of the Board a small amount of means, to enable us to have needful surveys made, and otherwise to collect and diffuse accurate information, and negotiate for sales, it is confidently believed that purchasers for much of the land might be found.

JONATHAN WORTH,
President, ex officio, of the Literary Board.

General Beauregard on Public Affairs.

The subjoined letter from General Beauregard to the Editor of the New Orleans Times will be read with more than a common interest—since it not only expresses the sentiments of one of the leading chiefs of the South in the late war, but corrects some statements that have been made in regard to a speech imputed to him, in which opinions were expressed that excited the surprise of those who supposed he was correctly reported. He did not make the speech ascribed to him.

The sentiments expressed by General Beauregard in this letter are just such as we would expect from a brave and noble-minded soldier who fought while there was a ray of hope, and only surrendered when all was lost save honor. Such a man cannot, under any circumstances, when overpowered in a war of weapons, condescend to carry on a war of words:

New Orleans, Jan. 10, 1867.

Wm. H. C. Kiku, Esq., Editor of the New Orleans Times:

In your paper this morning you publish an article from the New York Herald, containing some remarks relative to the speech I am reported to have made at Canton, Miss., to the Congressional excursionists lately in this city. The Herald is in error. I made no speech at Canton or elsewhere to those excursionists; but conversed with them freely, and openly told them the South had fought the North so desperately because it was defending what it conceived to be its constitutional rights; that having appealed however to the arbitration of arms it yielded to the decision which was given against it; that I believed the people of the South were now willing to accept the Constitution as made by the war and understood by the Supreme Court of the United States. I said also, in my opinion, questions of secession and slavery were forever settled; and so far as I was concerned, under no circumstances would I countenance any effort to revive them; that we must now direct our energies and our vitality to repairing the damages of war and restoring to our homes some of those comforts and that prosperity which they formerly enjoyed. In answer to the questions of some of the excursionists, if I thought the South would accept the Constitutional amendment, I replied that, eschewing politics, and attending strictly to private business and the duties of my position, I had little opportunity, except through newspapers, to ascertain the public sentiment on the subject; but if they desired to know my individual opinion, I would say that the South would not and should not accept those amendments, even if presented as a finality, for its interest and manhood forbade it; that we well knew we are now at the mercy of the North, but that the South would never do anything which its honor could not approve to protect its interest, and I believe would remain passive spectators of the struggles for power going on at the North, relying on the sober second thought and sense of justice of both parties to protect us. I added though, at the fall of the Confederacy, instead of going to a foreign country to swear allegiance to its government, I preferred remaining in my own and swearing allegiance to what I conceived to be its new government.

If in conversation with the excursionists, I used the words "consolidated government," when speaking of the United States Government, I meant of course the common Federal National Government, operating under the Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States.

I remain, yours, very respectfully,
(Signed) P. G. T. Beauregard.

The Howard Amendment.

The Southern people have not, in this matter, honorable alternative. There is but one course that they can pursue, without recreancy. To secure political privileges to themselves by ratifying, with their votes, the political proscription and outlawry of all those leaders whom they have respected and trusted and followed, and whom they still respect and trust and follow, would be to bring upon themselves a degree of shame for which no political franchises could be regarded as even half compensation. The very idea is too disgusting and shocking to be entertained by the Southern mind. We have read of beleaguered cities, in the barbarous ages, being required by the generals of the investing armies to send out, as a condition of capitulation, all their public men, with ropes around their necks; but the Southern people can hardly be expected, as a condition of forgiveness by their conquerors, to deliver up forty thousand of their chief men, with the halters of outlawry around their throats. The shame of the deed, if done, would resound throughout all the ages of the world.—Louisville Journal.

The Washington Republican strongly protests against the fatal advice given to the colored population, in the Address lately issued by the Colored Convention of Washington City. The address counsels the negroes to reject the occupations to which they have been accustomed, and strike higher. They must refuse any longer to be barbers and waiters and boot-blacks, and must set up for bankers and the like. The Republican is an abolition paper, and professes an anxious sympathy for those who, it says, were "lately held in chains in the South and in contempt in the North."—Rich. Enquirer.

From Washington.

The Practical Overthrow of the Government—Progress of Radicalism—A General Democratic Convention Called for.

[Cor. of the Baltimore Gazette.]

Washington, January 13, 1866.

In the course of these letters I have frequently asserted the inability of Congress, as at present constituted, to adopt by the required vote those measures necessary to a practical overthrow of the Government, namely: The displacement of the President; the corruption or abolitionment of the Supreme Court, and the submission of the Southern country to the rule of the negro population, in conjunction with the few itinerant political mountebanks who infest that unfortunate portion of the United States. I have now no doubt of the entire correctness of these assertions. The difficulty in the accomplishment of the unholy ends of the revolutionists has been, and still is, in the Senate. But it need be no longer disguised that very shortly this impediment will have been removed. This, in short, is the key to the defeat of Foster in Connecticut, Harris in New York, and of others I need not name. It was also the overshadowing influence that prevailed in the admission of Nebraska and Colorado as States. On the 5th of March next, then, a day selected by the conspirators by an act of Congress recently passed, the people of this country ma yexpect to see the initiation of means fully adequate to consummate their nefarious purposes. It is as certain as any future event can be, that unless decisive measures shall be taken to arouse the entire country to its imminent danger, the "Ides of March" will witness the total subversion of the substance and the very forms of this Government.

It is in full view of the transcendent importance of this great emergency that many consultations have been recently had in this city by distinguished gentlemen from all parts of the country, and the universal sentiment is entertained that if Constitutional liberty is to be preserved in this land, no time is to be lost in assembling true representatives of the two millions of voters who recorded their suffrages on the side of the Constitution at the late elections, in solemn council, there to make known that the infamous purposes to deprive the people of their liberties will not be unresistingly submitted to. It is high time, in the opinion of wise and cautious heads, that the magnitude of the present peril should be nakedly set forth, in order that the people may fully comprehend the awful precipice to which the Radical leaders have been, step by step, conducting them. I well know that the country is in such a frenzied condition that words of warning like these have nearly, if not quite, lost significance, to say nothing of their influence. They are not, however, my words, but those of the ablest, most prudent, and purest men the nation can boast of.

The momentous questions now pressing upon public attention are not those in which the South, as such, are especially interested. It suits the purposes of the conspirators to veil their latent intentions and to couple their measures, designed for general subjugation, with an apparent purpose of vengeance, only against those whom we have lately regarded as enemies. They thus seek to appropriate the passions of the North to their own ruin. At a time propitious to calm reflection, when the public mind remained unbiased by prejudices, the effect of war, such gigantic strides to despotism as have been already made would have been altogether impossible. The attempt to impeach the President, or overthrow the Supreme Court, for the causes pretended, would have consigned the projectors to eternal infamy. Nor could an appreciable minority of the people, for a single moment, have been brought to second the insane project of elevating the negro to political and social equality, if not seduced by their thirst of vengeance against an imaginary foe. They would, if left to the unbaised exercise of their judgments, however illiterate, have seen in the fancied advancement of the negro only their own debasement. Who is the negro to jostle in the avenues of labor? Whose vote is he to kill at the ballot box? Whose daughter is he to marry when he shall choose to take a white wife? Where is the fool who supposes that the Radical leaders mean that the negro herd shall become their equal in any of these respects, or that negro blood is to be incorporated in their families?

The African cannot be elevated—but we have lamentable proof that the white man may be debased to his level, and this is precisely what is aimed, at and is essentially necessary to the revolution contemplated by the arch-conspirators in Congress. Nor is this programme in the least new in any of its aspects. Universal history proves that no nation ever lost their liberties except by the exact means now in use to subjugate the frenzied masses of the American people.

A correspondent of the Portland Gazette, who was here in wet weather, says that "Louisville has the miriest streets of any city in the Union." That's because our people are not transgressors. We are told that the way of transgressors is hard.—Prentice.

OBITUARY.

Died, on the 13th of December, 1866, at his residence, near Washington, Beaufort County, N. C., Allen Grist, Esq., aged about seventy-six years.

Mr. Grist was one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Beaufort County. No man in the County was probably more universally known and more respected. Nearly half a century ago, he was elected to fill the office of Sheriff, and for a number of years discharged his official duties with an energy, forbearance and fidelity which won for him, ever afterwards, the esteem and confidence of the people. The trust reposed in him was not betrayed, and in acknowledgment of his merits, whatever of County honors he would accept, were freely bestowed by his fellow-citizens. Always foremost in any scheme which promised the advancement or benefit of the public interest, it is not strange that he so long and firmly held his grasp on popular favor. He repeatedly represented the County of Beaufort in the State Legislature, serving in both branches of that body with credit to himself and to the entire satisfaction of his constituents. As Chairman of the County Court, which position he filled most acceptably up to the time of his death, he was universally respected.

But not in public life did the excellencies of Mr. Grist's character shine forth most conspicuously. Benevolence was his ruling trait. To assist the needy was the impulse of his heart. His ear was never deaf to the tale of woe, and no man in the community was so fully recognized as the poor man's friend. By a long life of perseverance, industry and frugality, he had, prior to the war, amassed an ample fortune, and at his house, with the beaming good nature of "the true country gentleman," he dispensed an unbounded but unostentatious hospitality. He died in a green old age, leaving three generations of descendants to mourn his loss and emulate his virtues. We sympathize with them in their bereavement, and as one, who knew him long and loved him well, would inscribe on his tomb

"An honest man's the noblest work of God."

THE SENTINEL.

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 16, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Thos. Smith, of Petersburg, one of the most enterprising merchants in the South, makes another attractive announcement to-day. Mr. S. believes in advertising,—a sure indication that he finds it profitable and that the people appreciate his energy.

B. P. Williamson & Co., keep the public posted as to everything in their line.

Moses Joyner, Mosely Hall, Lenoir county, advertises a valuable cotton farm for rent.

Mrs. H. W. Miller's excellent Boarding House is re-opened.

Pulliam, Jones & Co. announce a lot of Collins' White Meal and Flour, and Superior Cotton Yarn of the Raleigh Manufacturing Co.

THE DAILY PROGRESS.—We have observed that Capt. Orr has dissolved his connection with the Progress, and that the Proprietor has made arrangements to be assisted by a good writer, whose name is not yet announced.

VISITORS.—A number of gentlemen have been drawn to the city, for several days, attending upon the Supreme Court for License, and we have also met with a number in attendance upon the practice of the Court.

THE LEGISLATURE of the State re-assembles on Tuesday next, 22nd. inst.

THE OFFICERS of the Memorial Association, and President's Council, are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Gen. Branch, to-morrow (Thursday) at 3 o'clock, P. M.

By order of the President,
S. A. PATRIDGE,
Secretary.

SUPREME COURT.—The following gentlemen, in addition to those heretofore announced, have been admitted to practice in the County Courts, viz: Daniel W. Edwards, Greene; and Augustus M. Moore, Chowan.

And the following to Superior Court practice, viz: Louis C. Latham, Washington; Mark E. Lawrence, Catawba; Frank C. Robbins, Davidson; Alexander D. McLean, Harnett; Robert D. Johnston, Mecklenburg; William F. Henderson, Davidson; Germain Bernard, Pitt; Joseph L. Carson, Rutherford; W. H. Malone, Caldwell; Edward S. Parker, Johnston; and John W. Gidney, Cleveland.

THE LAND WE LOVE.—We have already announced the arrival of the January number of this sterling periodical. We sat down and read it all, without stopping. We always do that thing, unless pressing business calls us away. It improves with each number, and that is very high praise. Its contents this month are very interesting, and some of them have very great merit.

Gen. Johnston's Report of the first battle of Manassas will be studied by men of the sword, and relished by all.

Count Hugo is a beautiful ballad, by Mrs. M. J. Preston, remarkably free and easy in its structure, with an awful squinting at—somebody.

The Mineral Wealth of Virginia, by Professor Campbell. This article, we should think, would set the Virginians at work with their divining rods and pick-axes, in search of their hidden treasures. We hope soon to hear from Professor Kerr, and predict that his forthcoming report will open the sleeping eyes of many an old Sleepy Hollow. We are all rich, if we only knew it.

Prometheus Vinctus. Another admirable poem by Fanny Downing. It will touch the hearts of many thousands, who sympathise with the Southern Chief in his captivity. We regret to learn that this gifted lady is languishing in extreme ill health. We hope her late beautiful songs may not prove to be those of the Swan.

Northern Prison Life. A telling story, by one who endured the rigors of Johnson's Island for two years. The account is written in excellent style. As a specimen, we append to this notice the author's closing remarks, urging Southern literary independence.

Mary, a Christmas song, by F. O. Ticknor, is good.

Roanoke Valley is a very sensible and well written article on the agricultural capacity of the Roanoke section of the State. Our Edgecombe friends will, however, be a little surprised to learn that their County is excepted from the cotton growing Counties of that great Valley. There is much useful speculation in this article as to the best system of labor to be adopted on our farms.

Road Side Stories, Chapters III., IV., is the continuation of a patriotic and sprightly story, by Miss Porter.

First Love, a poem, by Col. Jones. Good poetry, but bad luck.

The Last of the Crusaders. A prose article, (to be continued) by S. C. Read. In splendid rhythmical diction scarcely inferior to Prescott's Conquest of Mexico, or Washington Irving's Grenada. We have read nothing of late that has pleased us so well.

William Cowper, by D. H. H. Very good selections, very well strung together, by the Editor. It will be perused with gusto by those poetically inclined.

The Haversack. An amusing melange of war jokes and anecdotes, interspersed with scenes of pathetic interest, that will be apt to start salt water in many eyes before they know it.—This, we think, is the Editor's peculiar. There are some awful girds at the Scribes, Pharisees and Hypocrites of the Hypoboreans, at which even they must grin,—horribly it may be,—ghastly smiles.

The Land we Love is a great Land, and the Magazine is a great Periodical. Long may it wave!

"It must be evident that the surest and most speedy method of regaining our position among the nations of the earth, is by the cultivation the sustaining, the developing of a Southern literature. In this should consist our independence pre-eminently. No one can but remember the servile dependence upon Northern literature, which characterized the course of the Southern people in former times, to the almost utter neglect and exclusion of native efforts and native genius. And surely, no one, not entirely abandoned to every sense of ordinary self respect, can ever forget or forgive the vile caricatures, the billingsgate, the degrading libels, so lavishly heaped upon Southern institutions, and even Southern women, by those very creatures whom our money and our patronage had sustained and created. In this respect, at least, let us assert and maintain our independence, and we will find in it the surest and speediest source of national greatness. If, on the other hand, we return with debasing sycophancy to nourish these vipers, who have so lavishly poured out their venom on those who have sustained and developed them, we shall indeed have shown ourselves worthy of a harsher fate than that which has been accorded us. But if, on the contrary, we shall vigorously and zealously sustain, cherish and perfect, a native literature, if we shall succeed in presenting to the view of an impartial world the record of our heroism, our sufferings, our triumphs, untarnished and unsullied by fanaticism, we may find in the glories of the future at least some compensation for the calamities of the past and the ills of the present. SIGMA CHI."

INVENTION FOR GETTING TURPENTINE.—This article of commerce has heretofore borne a large share in the trade of this State. Many of our pine forests have been destroyed, but much remains from which the turpentine may be obtained, and any real improvement in the mode of obtaining it is still important.

A Mr. Carpenter, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who called to see us on yesterday, has recently invented a plan by which he thinks a large amount of turpentine might be saved and the article improved. He is desirous to settle in this State and is looking for a location.

His plan is, by the use of small tin troughs and a box, for which he has obtained a patent, moved regularly up the tree as the chipping renders it necessary, to catch all the turpentine as soon as it exudes from the tree, preventing the bad effects of the sun and atmosphere upon the article, as it runs down the tree, evaporating the spirits and leaving the hard article on the tree. He thinks, from the experiments he has made, that, by his plan, the entire crop of turpentine will be saved in a soft state, and that there will be no more hard turpentine; secondly, that all the turpentine will be virgin or equal to it, and all the rosin made from it would be No. 1. If his calculations are realized, it strikes us as a very great improvement. His invention is a cheap one.

SUNDAY WORK.—The printers of Petersburg, Va., we are glad to see, are conferring with the printers, throughout the country, upon the propriety of discontinuing Sunday work, among the craft. When we started the Daily Sentinel, we determined to have no Sunday work, and we have rigidly adhered to it. We believe none of the offices of this city have Sunday work in them, and this is becoming common throughout the State. If, in any instance, in former days, it might have been deemed a necessity, in order to the due circulation of important news, since the general use of the telegraph no such necessity exists. Because of the desecration of the Sabbath the land mourns.

THE NEW ORLEANS RIOT INVESTIGATION—HOW IT WAS MANAGED.—A Washington correspondent of the Baltimore "Sun" says: Some of the witnesses who testified before the New Orleans riot committee, a few days ago, have arrived here. They complain of the partial and partizan character of the investigation, on the part of Messrs. Eliot and Shellabarger. Their preliminary questions were like these: "What side are you going to testify on, sir?" "What are your politics?" &c. And during the examination Mr. Eliot let off commentaries on the testimony as it was given, like this: "That's as much as we could expect from a rebel," &c.

I am also informed by the same persons that the witnesses who testified before the committee upon suggestion of the city authorities, were substantial citizens of undoubted Union sentiments, and they all testified that if the President's policy were permittted to be carried out, and the representatives admitted at once, "things would go along smooth with the people of Louisiana."

THE last of the National Express Company's effects were sold on yesterday by Messrs. Regnault & Co., auctioneers, under executions in the hands of Sergeant Dudley, and brought first-rate prices. Horses sold at an average of $200 each; wagons from $245 to $605 each; harness from $40 to $60 per set. The office furniture, sold on Thursday last by the same firm, brought equally good prices.—Richmond Examiner, 15th.

A man in the interior of California lately received the following note from his wife in San Francisco: "Dear Sir: It may be proper, and perhaps my duty, to inform you that about two months ago I succeeded in getting my divorce from you, and also that I have since married again. You may continue your monthly remittances, as I may need them for your three children."

Mrs Fanny Downing is the daughter of the late John W. Murdaugh, of Portsmouth. Mrs. D. is one of the most gifted writers in the South. The Richmond Enquirer having spoken of her as a native of North Carolina, she writes to that paper, saying, "Deprived by the fortunes of war of almost every other right, she clings the more closely to the chief of them all—her birthright."

GOOD PAY.—Miss Nellie Dean, of Chicago, figures on a Pittsburg skating pond as a professional performer, and gets two hundred dollars a week and her expenses.

"Shall ladies have votes?" asked a stump speaker. "Certainly," replied a strong-minded woman in the audience. "Is woman made only to sew on buttons? And, if she is, it is against the law of nature to turn away the needle from the poll."

We object to tilters. Let the girls walk out with their dandy beaus if they must show their calves.—Louisville Journal.

A new steamer, called "The Old North State," has just been put on the line between Norfolk and Washington, N. C. She is to make weekly trips between those points.

The "Southern Churchman" informs us that there are twenty-two candidates for Orders in the Episcopal Church, in the Diocese of Virginia.

Our Wednesday Morning Dispatches.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, P. M.

SENATE.—The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Governor of South Carolina, transmitting the certificate of election of Jas. B. Campbell. Laid on the table,

Mr. Howard called up the resolution, heretofore introduced by him, instructing the committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire into the present relations between France, Mexico and the United States, as to the possibility of the withdrawal of French troops and the ability of Maximilian to maintain himself, &c. He said that our trade and commerce had been so much injured by the war, that the country wanted to know its exact status. The dignity and interest of this nation require that the government should take such measures as will secure the immediate restoration of peace and the re-establishment of the Republican government.

The resolution was laid aside for the bill regulating the tenure of office, which was discussed to the time of adjournment.

HOUSE.—Took up the bill for the admission of Nebraska. The Senate had inserted a condition to admission, that the word "white," in the Nebraska Constitution, should not discriminate against citizens on account of race or color.

Boutwell moved to amend, substituting, as a condition precedent, that the Nebraska Legislature should give suffrage to all without distinction of color or race.

During the debate, Davis, of N. Y, desired to know if Congress had the right to impose conditions upon a new State and to enforce those conditions, without the consent of the people.

Farnsworth said Congress clearly had that right. It was simply granting a territory a charter to become a State, and there was as much authority to impose a condition as to impose a condition on a territory, while it was a territory.

Wise, of Kentucky, and others, opposed the bill, when it was passed, with Boutwell's amendment,—Yeas 103, Nays 35.

The bill for the admission of Colorado, with similar conditions precedent, passed by a vote of 90 to 38.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 16.

Fred Douglass refused to speak here, until the arrangements separating the whites from the blacks were removed.

The Test Oath Decision.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.

There is great rejoicing here over the test oath decision.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

The whole Pennsylvania delegation protest against Mr. Cowan's confirmation as Minister to Austria.

Two negro apprentices, fugitives from Maryland, were returned to their master by Judge Wyte, of the Supreme District Court.

It is stated that the government has received a rumor that Napoleon instructs Castleman not to compel Maximilian to leave Mexico, nor to bring away any French that prefer remaining.

Senator Cowan is mentioned in connection with the Secretaryship of War.

Mr. Cameron, the Senator elect from Pennsylvania, hopes to see "white" stricken out of the Pennsylvania Constitution, and the spirit of caste, based on color, destroyed. He declares the Southern Territories disloyal, and no method of statesmanship is capable of making this generation loyal. The Constitutional amendment and impartial suffrage will help, but universal amnesty would destroy the growing loyalty. Of Andrew Johnson, he adds: "I said long since, that he was a traitor to his party, an enemy to his country, and a bad man."

Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

SENATE.—House amendment to the Nebraska bill taken up. It was favored by Wade and opposed by Edmunds. The probabilities are in favor of concurrence.

HOUSE.—The Secretary of the Interior was instructed to report in reference to accommodations for the Clerk of the Circuit and District Courts of North Carolina, and whether legislation is necessary to secure the records.

Stevens' enabling act was taken up, and Bingham, of Ohio, took the floor in opposition.

The Boston Commonwealth says that such men as Phillips and Stevens are the cream of the country. If they are, the sooner the country is skimmed the better for it.—Prentice.

A bright little girl, in playful anger, caught hold of an old sister, saying, "Now, I'll shake the sawdust out of you," thinking the human species was got up on the same plan as her doll.

"Didn't you tell me you could hold the plow?" said a farmer to an Irishman he had taken on trial.

"Be asy, now," said Pat; "how could I hold it and two horses pullin' it away? Just stop the crathurs an' I'll hold it for you."

Dr. L. C. Garland has resigned the Presidential chair in the University of Alabama.

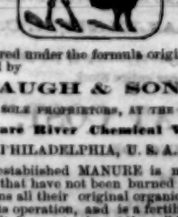
PERUVIAN GUANO SUBSTITUTE!

BAUGH'S

RAW BONE SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.



Manufactured under the formula originated in 1854 and patented by

BAUGH & SONS,

SOLE PROPRIETORS, AT THE

Delaware River Chemical Works,

PHILADELPHIA, U. S. A.

This old established MANURE is manufactured from Bones that have not been burned or steamed, and it contains all their original organic matter. It is active in its operation, and is a fertilizer of great durability. It does not exhaust the soil like Peruvian Guano, but on the contrary permanently improves it.

Previous to 1861 it was introduced into the Southern States to considerable extent, and again in 1865, where it has been used with remarkable success upon Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, and all Crops.

A trial will convince any planter of its merits.—Pamphlets containing well-known Southern evidence furnished upon application to New York or Philadelphia offices.

☞ Sold by Dealers in all the principal cities and towns throughout the United States and British Provinces.

This remedy has rarely failed to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever, and it has this great advantage over other Ague medicines, that it subdues the complaint without injury to the patient. It contains no quinine or other deleterious substance, nor does it produce quinism or any injurious effect whatever.
